FACULTY TEACHING AND RESEARCH AWARD RECIPIENTS 2026

The 2025-26 Faculty Awards are granted in recognition of a variety of areas including student and faculty research, integrated service-learning, service to the University, and innovation and excellence in teaching. The awards are sponsored by the President and the Chairman of the Board of Trustees. These awards were presented to the recipients during the Iona University Honors Convocation on Thursday, May 14, 2026.

The Brother William H. Barnes Memorial Award for Service to the University

Presented to the faculty members who have demonstrated exceptional contributions to the University community as shown through leadership in areas ranging from faculty governance or administrative work, mentoring of student activities, sponsorship of University events, to initiation of new service projects for students, faculty, and other members of the University community.

Kathleen Kristian, Ph.D.

*The Brother William B. Cornelia
Distinguished Faculty Award*

Presented to the faculty member who is distinguished as a teacher-scholar as documented through student-and-peer-teaching evaluations and scholarly output.

Derese Kassa, Ph.D.

*The Irene Hammerbacher
Outstanding Faculty Research Award*

Presented to the faculty member whose achievements in research, scholarship, or creative expression have had significant critical reception and are recognized nationally or internationally.

Helena He, Ph.D.

*The Brother Arthur Loftus
Outstanding Student Research Award*

Presented to the faculty member who has actively engaged in research and/or scholarly activity with undergraduate or graduate students.

Jeffrey Schriber, Ph.D.

The Catherine McCabe Award for Innovation & Excellence in Teaching

Presented to the faculty member who has demonstrated exceptional teaching skills, recognized concern for students and colleagues and sensitivity to the mission of the University, and a commitment to high standards of professional and personal life.

Rachana Umashankar, Ph.D.

The Brother Richard B. Power Award for Integrating Service-Learning into the Classroom

Presented to the faculty member who has demonstrated excellence in teaching that includes the integration of innovative approaches to service-learning, or notable collaboration with faculty outside their department for incorporating service-learning beyond the classroom.

Aakash Sapru, Ph.D.

FACULTY SPEAKER OF THE YEAR

The Faculty Speaker of the Year is nominated by the Iona community and selected by a diverse group of faculty and students. The Faculty Speaker of the Year must be a full-time member who has a distinguished record of teaching and scholarship.

Tyron Pope, Ed.D.

HUGH McCABE AWARD FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE

This award is presented annually to a member of the Iona University community whose dedication and efforts reflect Iona's commitment to educate persons for a just society and peaceful world.

Christiana Awosan, Ph.D.

HONORARY DEGREE

D. Graham Burnett, Ph.D.

Graham Burnett is Henry Charles Lea Professor of History at Princeton University. An accomplished historian of science and a writer/editor working at the intersection of scholarship and the creative arts, he is both a deeply trained and an unconventional humanist who has become a prominent voice in diagnosing our crisis of attention and detailing ways to address it.

Born in France, Burnett has had a distinguished academic career. He graduated from Princeton in 1993 as salutatorian and as recipient of the Pyne Prize. He completed a Ph.D. in the History and Philosophy of Science at Cambridge University. Among other distinctions, he has been a Marshall Scholar, a Guggenheim Fellow at the Bard Graduate Center in New York City, a Mellow Fellow in the Humanities at Columbia University, and an inaugural fellow of the Center for Scholars and Writers at the New York Public Library.

His many publications have explored an expansive range of interests and attest to the breadth of his intellectual curiosity: the history of natural history and the sciences of the earth and the sea from the seventeenth through the twentieth centuries, including cartography, navigation, oceanography, and ecology and environmentalism.

His academic inquiry into the science and the business of attention measurement over the past century has fueled his public engagement with the issue and consequences of “human fracking” — the means by which highly networked, extractive technological platforms combine with addictive devices to exploit our attention and diminish our presence in the world and the resonance of our experience.

His pioneering work with the Friends of Attention collective, and its manifestation in the programs of the Strother School of Radical Attention, have brought the idea of “attention activism” to a national audience, coalescing around the idea that reclaiming human attention from the forces of the digital economy is a matter of the highest political, ethical, and educational import.

Over the past two years, the involvement of Dr. Burnett and his colleagues at the Strother School with the Iona community has challenged us to think deliberately and creatively about how we engage with one another and with our own inner selves. He has spoken eloquently on our campuses about how the ideas of presence and liberation at the heart of his attention vocation have deep roots in Catholic intellectual and spiritual traditions.

At its 2001 commencement ceremony, Iona awarded an honorary degree to Claire L. Gaudiani, celebrating her distinguished service as president of Connecticut College, noting her success in modeling how — in her words — institutions could be not only “think-tanks,” but also “do-tanks.” It seems fitting that, twenty-five years later, Iona recognizes in Dr. Gaudiani’s son, Graham Burnett, the same ideal it honored in his mother: a dedication to “fashioning a new symbiosis between learning and living that demonstrates the continued worth of the liberal arts” in educating citizens and building community.

Accordingly, Iona University hereby confers upon D. GRAHAM BURNETT the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

THE IONA UNIVERSITY MACE

The academic scepter or mace is used in Iona University official ceremonies including commencement, honors convocation and presidential inaugurations. A vestige of medieval times, the mace was once a weapon designed to keep order among ranks and protect rulers. Now, it serves as a symbol of governing authority while pointing to the peaceful, dignified service of its institution. Serving as the Ceremonial Mace Bearer is an honor bestowed upon a member of the Iona University faculty annually.

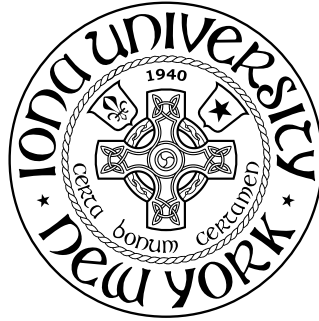

Commissioned by Iona University's sixth president, Br. John 'Jack' Driscoll, the current Iona Mace was designed by longtime Iona faculty member and artist, Br. Kenneth F. Chapman in 1989, in honor of Iona's fiftieth 'Jubilee' anniversary. With a stunning gold cross at its center, Br. Chapman has noted that his design was inspired by the Light of Christ ("The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it." John 1:5) and by the light of the torch of New York's Statue of Liberty as a symbol of how education enlightens the mind, creating paths to freedom and liberty.

The creation of Iona's Mace was made possible by the generous contributions of Iona benefactors Jack and Susan Rudin.

IONA UNIVERSITY

MISSION STATEMENT

Iona University is a caring academic community, inspired by the legacy of Blessed Edmund Rice and the Christian Brothers, which embodies opportunity, justice, and the liberating power of education.

Iona University's purpose is to foster intellectual inquiry, community engagement, and an appreciation for diversity.

In the tradition of American Catholic Higher Education, Iona University commits its energies and resources to the development of graduates recognized for their ethics, creativity, and problem solving abilities; their independent and adaptable thinking; their joy in lifelong learning; and their enduring integration of mind, body, and spirit.

(Adopted May 2, 2012)

IONA ALMA MATER

Iona, Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail, to thee!
We raise a cry to glorify
Thy name where'er we be.
To thee we owe allegiance;
Abroad we spread thy fame;
Throughout the world we praise thee,
Proud to bear thy name.

Great Columba, trusted patron
Guide Iona year by year.
Founder of the first Iona,
Sing we now in accents clear:
Iona, Alma Mater,
On high thy glories soar;
Ionians go forth again
To praise thee evermore.
